COAL REGULATIONS FOR MISSOURI

SCHEDULES OF PRICES ADOPTED BY COMMISSION.

DISTRIBUTOR NAMED

Action Taken to Insure Equitable Distribution of Fuel and to Prevent High Prices.

Regulations for prices and distribution of coal in Kansas and Missouri were set down yesterday by the coal commission of the two states at a joint meeting in Kansas City. The action was taken to insure equitable distribution and to prevent trafficing in prices in view of the probable shortage resulting from the strike.

An office to receive priority applications for coal and to regulate the order in which they will be filled will be established the commissions decided. C. E. Warner, traffic manager for the Southwestern Coal Operators' Association, was appointed distributor in charge.

Set Maximum Coal Prices.

An official statement given out after the executive session of the commissions included the following regarding prices:

In order to stimulate production of coal, the joint commissions were of the opinion that the following maximum f. o. b. mine prices should be recommended:

Slack, $4 a ton; mill, $4.25 a ton; mine run, $5 a ton; lump and nut, $6 a ton.

Regarding the handling of the coal, the statement read:

It is further recommended that agencies handling coal continue their present practices and their commissions shall be based on and deducted from the f. o. b. mine prices previously recommended. Wholesalers will be expected to confine their handling charge to a maximum of 25 cents a ton. It is further recommended that all wagon-haul coal sell at an additional price f. o. b. of 75 cents a ton.

The maximum prices mentioned, however, do not apply to coal produced in Leavenworth or Osage Counties or to Missouri block coal.

All Prices Subject to Change.

The prices set, it was announced, were to cover present conditions and are subject to change by the commissions at any time.

"The respective governors' commissions," the statement continued, "will take necessary steps to prevent profiteering and extortion in the sale and distribution of coal furnished to retailers under priority orders."

Warner to Place Shipments.

The machinery regulating distribution of coal will be operated by Mr. Warner as distributor. Blanks will be furnished, on which application for priority orders of coal may be made to the proper state commission, either at Jefferson City or Topeka. When such applications have been approved by the commissions they will be forwarded to the distributor, whose duty it will be to place the order with a mine for shipment. A railroad committee, the chairman to be named later, will be required to attend to the placing of empty cars for delivery.

Members of the commissions were reticent regarding the enforcing of the price scale. It was indicated, however, that cars for distribution might be refused mines violating the commmission's orders.

Will Act as One Body.

The commissions of Missouri and Kansas agreed to function in concerted action because of the location of the coal fields, which extend across the common border line. Governor Allen of Kansas appointed the three judges of the Kansas industrial court to serve as the commission of that state, not acting, however, under the industrial court law.

Judge W. L. Huggins, presiding judge of the industrial court, was chosen chairman of the joint commissions. Future joint sessions of the commissions will be called when conditions require concerted action.

STANLEY BACK THIS MORNING FROM OZARKS

Says That Fruit Crop Is a Bumper One and That All Crops are Heavy in That Territory

S. M. Stanley arrived in Maryville this morning after spending a two weeks' vacation at Springfield, Hollister, Verona and other points in the Ozarks. Mr. Stanley formerly lived at Neosho and has watched conditions there. He says that the crop conditions are the best they have been in ten years. It often happens that when there is a good fruit crop some other crop is short, but it is not the case this year. Grain and everything else is fine. The best of peaches can be bought for $1.50 and $2 a bushel and some of the grades not quite so good for $1.00.

There is a big crop of grapes and they can be bought for 20 and 25 cents a basket.

FOR A UNITED PARTY IN MISSOURI

DEMOCRATS IN WASHINGTON URGE GETTING TOGETHER.

LONG IS A GOOD LOSER

Winning of the House Depends Greatly on a United Party in This State.

By Wallace Bassford.
(Special News Correspondent)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—Missouri Democrats in Washington have taken an intense interest in the Senatorial fight—and it was a fight—a clean, hard, knock-down and drag-out fight, of the sort that ought not do the party any harm. Somewhat different, by the way, from the Beveridge-New row in Indiana, in which "traitor" and "liar" were the politest terms used. If the world loves a good fighter, and that is true, it is also true that it loves a good loser, and Breckinridge Long is demonstrating that quality as well as he showed the other. To be a good loser one has to be a good sport.

The Democrats of the National organization have viewed the result in Missouri with a good deal of concern, feeling that very much depends upon the situation there. The big fight for next November will be to take the House of Representatives from Republican control in order to prevent the further exploitation of the people at the hands of the special moneyed interests dominating the present administration. With the House in the hands of the Democrats the Republicans will be completely checkmated in the enactment of vicious legislation. The winning of the House depends very greatly on a united party in Missouri, where sixteen seats in the House are at stake, only two of which are now held by the Democrats, whereas it is customary for them to get from twelve to fourteen and even fifteen. Thirteen or fourteen Democrats from Missouri this fall will in all liklihood make the House safe for the Democrats, will place a Democrat in the Speaker's chair so long and honorably occupied by the Great Missourian, and turn the Republicans out of the control of every Committee in the House. Good and needed legislation originating in the House would have to be carried through by the Republican Senate and President, to the benefit of the country, or beaten by them, to their own injury. With the swing being toward the Democrats, as it undoubtedly is, Missouri can send a big and able group of Democrats here to make the House Democratic, provided there is no split over the Senatorship, and there will be no split if Breckinridge Long's supporters are as good sports as Breck, who has said that he would stump the state for Reed. Since the days of Jefferson, who laid down the rule, Democrats have believed in cheerfully accepting the will of the majority; it is the rule of sense, sanity and victory. There is no other way.

CHAUTAUQUA TENT FULL LAST NIGHT

SOME ON OUTSIDE—HAD WEAK FEATURES.

TURN TO THE RIGHT

Play That Has Had Big Triumph on Broadway to be Given Tomorrow Evening.

Tomorrow's Program.

9:00—Junior Town.

2:30—Address, "Where Does Religion Come in?" J. Campbell White.

8:00—Comedy drama, "Turn to the Right," Keighley's Broadway Players.

The protrayals of Miss Edna Means yesterday afternoon brought a good lot of compliments from the audience and the College Glee Club was pleasing. A crowd that filled the tent to capacity gathered last night for the Black-Faced Minstrels. Many people had their own chairs and sat outside the tent.

Some of the individual numbers of the program were fine, and a lot of them brought generous applause from the audience. The children were especially pleased. Miss Edna Means was interlocutor for the negro part of the program. There were some disappointments in certain features, however. Harry Lauder would no doubt have groaned to the depth of his soul if he could have heard "In the Gloaming." The glee club numbers were weak also.

Following is some of the information given regarding the program for tomorrow:

Sixth day afternoon J. Campbell White from the heart of New York City, rises to ask the question, "Where Does Religion Come in?" You may shy at this subject at first thought. But don't get scared. He will not preach to you or at you. He is not a preacher at all. He is a layman who has had big experience and big connections in the great world and has pondered her problems deeply and long. He is a master orator. And he will put his great powers to splendid use in discussing the function of Religion in individual, home, industrial, social, national and international relationships. A great man with a masterful message of incalculable value. One of the outstanding features of the entire program.

At night the play. Here is where everybody gets busy. It is called "Turn to the Right." Does not that title have a decidedly "come hither" sound to you? Take it from us, you can bank on a sure enough good time when the curtain goes up for this performance. And say, it is another one with William Keighley at the helm. The same Keighley who was here last summer in "Broadway Jones," will be here himself as a star actor in this wonderful comedy, which he declares to be far and away the greatest theatrical production ever released for Chautauqua use. Full of sparkling fun and genuine human sentiment. A Broadway triumph brought to your very door. 443 times in New York City and here but once. Better take it in while you have a chance.

When he arrived at the city hall he discovered that he had not sufficient money with which to pay the driver. As a solution to the problem he had the driver taken into court and fined $10 for speeding.

MAKING FRONT FOR FILM TENT HERE

KENNEY TEBOW IS DOING ART WORK

ALL NODAWAY DISPLAY

Sedalia to Furnish Grounds and Current But Not Much Else—Last Pictures Taken

Kenney Tebow is painting a canvas for the front of the tent in which the Nodaway County Agriculture films of the Chamber of Commerce are to be shown at the State Fair at Sedalia. The canvas is to be typical of Nodaway County and what is produced here.

At the upper left hand corner will be the head of a bull, and in the upper right hand corner the head of a hog. Below these on either side will be a horn of plenty from which is pouring the many farm. truck and garden products of the region. By the side of the horns of plenty will be enlarged still pictures of scenes in the county and underneath these will be a large pumpkin and other products of the county. In the center is the entrance and over this the words "Nodaway County, Welcome, Free, Free."

The last pictures to be shown at the fair were taken this morning at the farm of G. A. Fite, included some of the live stock of T.C.Cox, who lives on the place. The principal thing in the pictures this morning were hogs and alfalfa. One of the scenes shows these with a field of large corn as a back ground. A white sow and her litter of small pigs is one of the features of the pictures at the farm.

Another of the pictures is that of a bunch of fine yearling mules.

In painting the front for the tent here the idea of an all Nodaway County display is being carried out. The motion pictures are made by Ralph Marcell of the Marcell Studio. All the expenses both for the motion pictures and the still scenes are made in the county. The fair will furnish the ground on which the tent stands and the current for the pictures will be furnished there, but about everything else comes from Nodaway County and is made here.

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN NODAWAY COUNTY

OBSTRUCTING THE ROAD PROGRAM

The Hannibal Courier-Post, discussing Missouri roads, says: "From Jefferson City comes the report that Senator William Irwin will ask for an injunction in the Cole county circuit court this week against the issuance and sale of the $5,000,000 of road bonds with which the state highway commission was to begin Missouri's great enterprise in road construction.

"It had been hoped that the splendid work as mapped out by the state highway commission would not be hindered in any way, but would proceed at once

"Of course if the injunction is granted, the construction program will be seriously delayed. The engineers who located the 1500 miles of primary road in this state, displayed the very best of wisdom, and laid them out so that they would be as a backbone to a system of roads in the state, that would work to the advantage of the greatest number of people. Jefferson City, apparently, was not satisfied, Jefferson City is never satisfied; although the state of Missouri has spent millions of dollars there, there are some people living in the capital city who believe that the people have not yet done enough for them. It should be the last place in the state for any of its citizens to try to bring court proceedings that would obstruct the road program for even a single minute.

"The people of Missouri generally are satisfied with the action of the highway commission in accepting the engineers' report, for the 1500 miles of primary roads, and for a few people to stand in the way of the road program is to be deplored. The people of Missouri generally feel that Jefferson City has been well provided by the state, and that even if that city did not get exactly what it wants, it should bring pressure to bear upon Mr. Irwin against the step the report says he is about to take.

"No man, or set of men in Missouri, should attempt to thwart or to obstruct the road program as mapped out by the state highway commission."

THE REV. S. P. ALLISON BACK FROM TRIP TO OZARKS

Is Much Impressed With the Southern Missouri Country as a Place to Spend a Vacation.

The Rev. S. P. Allison, who has been spending a part of his vacation attending the Presbyteria of the Southwest at Presbyterian Hill near Hollister in the Ozarks, returned to Maryville at noon today. He will attend the lecture of J. Campbell White at the Chautauqua tomorrow afternoon and will attend some of the other numbers of the Chautauqua. He is much impressed with the Ozarks country and recommends it highly to those who would take a vacation.

He says that Presbyterian Hill is a most beautiful place and that considerable money is being spent making its accommodations better. A $20,000 hotel has just been completed and other buildings will be put up within a year. He says that anyone having a chance to attend a meeting at the Hill should not miss it. Church meetings are under way there considerable of the summer.

Mr. Allison's vacation continues until September. He says that he will be out of town again after Chautauqua, but that he is not sure where he will go.

SPRAGUE, WARNER & CO., OFFICER WRITES POEM

To Express His Sympathy to the Relatives of Ed Schumacher, Who Recently Died

One of the many letters received by N. Schmacher and family expressing sympathy on the death of Ed J. Schumacher was from E. W. Mitchell of Sprague, Warner & Company of Chicago. The letter follows:

My dear Friends:—
May a father and friend, from the depths of his soul,
To the loved ones left by the loved one gone
To a joy that has never, no never been told,
Sweet thought you will meet him as the lambs of one fold.

You will miss him, 'tis true, but in spirit he will be there
The angel to heal with love's tender care,
You will be lonesome, but look through the eyes of the soul.
And see the angel reformed in God's loving mold.

Love and sympathy are limited as a healing balm
Yet it cannot fill his chain
But Father, Brothers, Sisters, don't forget
Dear Ed is with God, and God is everywhere.

Keep in mind you never, no never, can be alone
Love's life is never apart,
it sees through the eyes of the soul,
It hears through the ears of the heart.

I weep with you but not as Father, Brothers or Sisters,
But as a true loving friend
Believing we will meet in Eternity again
As our Father, God is the shepherd whose lover never ends,
With a friendship, aye, love and sympathy that in words
Can never be told, I was his, and am,
Your sincere friend,
E. W. Mitchell.

WITH NODAWAY CO. FARMERS

William Job

A well mown lawn, clean garden flowers, weedless vineyards and well-kept premises in general are some of the features of the suburban farm of William Job, lying on the east side of Hester street, just outside the city limits of Maryville. There are forty-five acres in Mr. Job's farm and he works part of it intensively

Things are looking good on the Jobe farm and Mr. Job says that crop conditions have been especially good this year. He has a pear orchard with fifty trees and they have a heavy crop. The grape vines are loaded. The large garden shows that it has produced a lot of food this year.

Mr. Job has one of the large strawberry patches around town. An acre and a third of his farm is given to this crop. An asparagus patch 30x100 feet is grown high now but it produced enough each spring to provide sufficient money to pay the grocery bill for three months in the year, Mr. Job says.

A peculiar situation with the plumb crop has come up at the farm this year. A louse has attacked a number of the trees and they are without a crop. In the case of the Lumbardy and the blue plumb, however, there is a large crop It seems that the louse did not bother these trees.

The poultry flock at the farm is Silver laced Wyandottes and there is a considerable bunch of them. Mr. Job says that he has handled a number of varieties of chicken in his life and that he finds this breed one of the best he has had, since the birds are healthy and grow well. He says that it is a good laying strain and grows out well for the frying pan. He says that he likes it for another reason. As a suburban farmer his flock is likely to get mixed with that of other people. With the silver laced strain it is easy to tell his birds from those of his neighbor, since it is an uncommon one.

Mr. Job milks ten Polled Angus cows and sells his milk at wholesale to restaurants. He has his cattle all tuberculin tested.

At one time there was a large apple orchard at the farm and a considerable number of these trees are left and bearing this year.

William J. Schaffer.

William J. Schaffer, at his small farm a mile and a quarter south of Maryville, has picked three barrels of apples this year from one of his early transparent trees and you can scarcely tell that any have been taken off. He says that he has so many apples that he does not know what to do with them. He will give away to anyone who needs them and care to come for them. Mrs. Schaffer has been canning for a long time. She has more than 200 quarts of fruit canned and stored away in the cellar and from the appearance of the orchard if she is to save the rest of the fruit, she is just started.

Mr. Schaffer is a cigar maker by trade and is employed at the Basford Cigar Factory. He has his four-acre farm as a past time, he says, to potter about on when he is not at work. It is a nice place and makes an attractive country home. He says that he is growing old and that he has been thinking that it would be nice after a while to get rid of having to come to town every day to work. He says that he is expecting to go into the poultry business at the place after a while. With this in view he has gotten some Plymouth Rocks and expects to enlarge the flock gradually.

George Pennington.

George Pennington, who lives just south of Maryville, has gotten his five acre farm all in alfalfa. He has some Chester White pigs that are getting along fine and he raises White Rock chickens.

Virginia Burris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Burris, returned last night from Omaha where she has been visiting her sister and brother, Miss Helen Burris and Russell Burris, for two weeks.

FAMOUS DRIVERS IN RACES AT KANSAS CITY SEPT. 16

Opening of Only Speedway for Which Grandstands are of Steel participated in by American Legion.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 8. — Entry blanks for the great 300-mile international speed classic, which will open the new half million dollar speedway here September 16, are being mailed by the Kansas City Speedway Association to all of the formost racing drivers of the United States and France. The blank in this case is a formality as all of the great pilots have signified their intention of entering the Kansas City race. Among those who have given assurance of participating for the prizes that will total more than $30,000 are Jimmy Murphy, world's speed champion, Tommy Milton, last year's champion, Ralph De Palma, Roscoe Sarles, Cliff Durant and others.

The participation by the American Legion of Missouri and Kansas has even at this early date assured a tremendous throng at the opening race. Every day brings added evidence of this fact. Legionnaires throughout the two states are preparing to attend the event. From a score or more of larger towns the word has been received that special trains will be run to the Kansas City race. Tulsa, Oklahoma, is one of the cities of the southwest that will be represented by a large delegation, a request for a big block of reserved seats just having been received.

To assure the completion of the great mile and a quarter racing bowl in ample time for the race, contractors are now preparing to carry on the work by shifts working night and day. The steel construction of the grandstands has been started and will be completed in the near future. The Kansas City speedway is the only one in the world the grandstands of which will be of steel.

Ticket prices, as announced by E. E. Penke, secretary and general manager of the speedway association, and Chas. F. Curry, chairman of the Legion committee, are: General admission $2, unreserved grandstand seat $3, reserved seats in the grandstand $5, $6 and $7; box seats $8, $9 and $10.

This race is staged by the Missouri and Kansas departments of the American Legion and the Kansas City Speedway Association.

Fireless Cooker Helps In Keeping Of Ice Cream

If one is fortunate enough to have a fireless cooker, ice cream may be an every day item on the bill of fare, for this method of freezing requires a minimum of labor and expense. Only the largest vessel for the cooker is needed and a can with a tight fitting cover to go inside it. A large baking powder can is the most successful, but a coffee can may be used.

The ice cream mixture is placed in this can, the can is set inside the large kettle, held off the bottom by a large spool or something similar, the ice and salt mixture is packed around and over it, and it is set inside the cooker, where it may be forgotten until you are ready to use it. It is ready to eat in an hour, but two hours will freeze it hard enough to turn out in a mold.

For quick freezing the mixture should be one-half ice and one-half salt, though the ice cream will be smoother and more evenly frozen if one-fourth salt and three fourths ice be used and the two hours allowed for freezing. The salt and ice should be mixed before putting into the kettle. It also helps the ice cream to freeze evenly if it is scraped from the sides and stirred thoroughly once or twice during the freezing. Any ice cream, ice or sherbet mixture may be used. The most delicious fruit ice creams are made by using a mixture of one-half mashed fruit and sugar, uncooked, and one-half cream; if the cream can be whipped so much the better. If cream cannot be had use custard in its place.

Be sure to clamp the lid of the kettle on tight and also the cover of the cooker.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE WILL FIGHT SENATOR REED

Wayne B. Wheeler of the League Walups the Senator and States He Is Destructive Force.

St. Louis, Aug. 9.—The view of Senator James A. Reed's nomination taken by Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel and legislative agent of the Anti-Saloon League, according to a statement issued to the Washington correspondent of the St. Louis GlobeDemocrat last night, is that if Reed is reelected the "wet" forces in congress will not have gained anything, because he has done his utmost against the "drys."

Wheeler dictated the following statement:

"The Missouri Anti-Saloon League will have charge of the campaign against Senator Reed at the polls, just as it did in the primaries. The temperance forces of the state are well informed concerning him. They insist that the senator's record is such that those who favor national prohibition and its enforcement cannot consistently vote for him. Senator Reed is one of the most destructive forces in the senate. He always covers his attacks on prohibition with constitutional argument to give it respectability. The courts have invariably sustained the laws which he opposed on the ground of their unconstitutionality. He is a versatile, strong debater, but seldom uses his talents on the right side. Some may support him simply because he is an obstructionist, but the majority in most of the states wants a senator who stands for something constructive and helpful to the public good.

"Senator Reed's opposition to measures in which women are interested naturally will cause them to oppose him. The party appeal will be used strongly in his behalf, but the tendency of the times now is for independent voting, and there doubtless will be more of this in Missouri this year than in any former election. For thirty years the Anti-Saloon League has inculcated in the minds of the people the idea that it is better patriotism to vote for a good candidate on an opposition party ticket rather than an unworthy one on your own. To vote for a candidate simply because he is a Democrat or a Republican, without regard for the things for which he stands, is blind partisanship and poor citizenship.

"The campaign will give the people added information about the results of prohibition and what is needed to enforce it. If the people once understand the full effect of Senator Reed's public record in opposition to prohibition and its enforcement, I do not believe they will re-elect him. It is just as indefensible to oppose necessary law enforcement legislation to make the Constitution operative and enforceable as it is for a bootlegger to violate the law. If the 'dry' forces of the state lose this fight, the 'wets' will add nothing to their numbers, as the senator is one of the 'wet' minority in the senate now. If the friends of prohibition enforcement win, it will be a great victory for law and order and the sustaining of the eighteenth amendment."

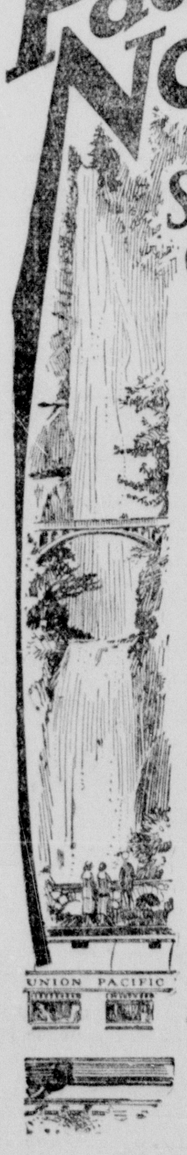
Pacific Northwest

Scenery that Kipling Couldn't Describe



"There are many 'bridal veil' falls in this country, but few, men say, lovelier than those that come down to the Columbia River. * * There I sat down and looked at my fellow traveler, half out of the boat in his anxiety to see both sides of the river at once. He had seen my note-book, and it offended him.

'Young feller * * it's not you nor anybody like you can put this down.'

'I can't, I know it,' I said humbly."
Rudyard Kipling, From Sea to Sea 1899.
